MR. KERCHBYAL took a step in the right direction yesterday, in in- gress of rapid extinguishment, and it is troducing in the House of Representatives a bill to repeal the law be understood that this debt is creating a Board of Commissioners to be a perpetual incumbrance upon the for Davidson county. There was property and prosperity of the nation, it is certainly to be feared the collection of not the slightest necessity for taxing this people, already borne down by taxation, to sustain a Board of Commissioners, since the County Court could do every thing these Commissioners are called upon to do, and do it just as well.

out a change in the essential character of There is a class of Radicals in sess a reduction of its amount and diminution of its burdens. The Secrethe South who act as though they tary is confident that he expressed the imagined they had a pre-emption sentiments of the intelligent tax-payers right to all the offices, and whenevof the country in his report of 1865. In his last the Secretary referred to the coner one of them is ousted by the dition of the Treasury at the close of the votes of the people who are allowed war, and some subsequent periods, alluding especially to the energy in the spring of 1865, arising from the very large requito vote, they declare most lustily that fraud and intimidation have been the means through which the enable the War Department to pay arrearages due to the army and other result was accomplished. This fact has received a practical illustration in the municipal election held in Augusta, Ga., a few days ago. Foster Blodgett, who held the position of Mayor, by military appointment, we believe, was a candidate for the position at the late election, and was beaten by a very large majority. On the day of election, when it had become apparent that the Democrats had carried the city, he slipped off to Hamburg, in a close carriage, and there took the cording to the books and accounts of the cars for Washington. Before leaving the Mayor's office in the City Hall, he addressed a note to Judge Sneed, of the City Court, in which he stated that he had information that the election had been carried by intimidation, bribery and fraud, and declared an unwillingness to participate in the inauguration of officers whose election had been secured by such appliances. The Augusta Chronicle and Sentinel states that he was engaged for some hours previous to leaving in fixing up a bundle of untruthful affidavits made by of untruthful effidavits made by bad negroes, who complained that they had been driven from the polls 30, 1866, $558,032,620; for the year endthey had been driven from the polls, at a number of which negroes were not allowed to vote. These affidavits Blodgett has taken with him to Washington, to show the Radical Congress that the people of Georgia | tween the 1st day of April, 1865, and the re not yet sufficiently reconstructed to be entrusted with the control of the State government, which it is only too evident by the result of the presidential election, will pass into their hands at the next State election. This incident of the Augusta municipal election shows the desperate character of the leaders of the Radical party, and that they will scruple at nothing to secure office. He was a scalawag who was fairly beaten before the people to whom he appealed for an endorsement of his administration, and because they refused this endorsement, he hies off to Washington to misrepresent and if possible bring large sums due to the soldiers of further trouble upon them. This is the great Union army, numbering at the character of the men the revolution has thrown to the surface. They are to be found all over the have been unpaid. For the purpose of the Executive message, than which there is no more important document, is quite long, and discusses various matters. We submit that portion of it touching the public Conscious that the fiscal management in this regard is the subject of general criticism, its figures and argument have an exculpatory tone but they are not sufficient. The weak point of Mr. Johnson's administration, in whole and in detail, has been in the financial department. Perhaps, it is not the fault of his Secretary of the is the amount actually expended in the Treasury, but we must think that Mr. McCulloch is better fitted to control a National Bank in an inland town, than to admintster the finances of a great nation in times | 495.902 20, and that $630,431,125 90 were paid on debts which were like the present. Certainly this portion of the report does not disprove this estimate of his capacity.

The report says. The debt between the first day November, 1867, and the first day of November, 1868, increased to $2,562. 510.282. Of this increase $25,152.0 0 is chargeable to the Pacific Railroad, and $5 000 000 to the purchase of Russian America. Within the same period there was paid for bounties $44,000,515, and at least $4,000,000 for interest on compound and seven three-tenth notes, which had accrued prior to the first of November, 1867. If these extraordinary advances and payments had not been made the receipts would have exceeded the expendi tures $43,787,412 48 Considering the heavy reduction internal taxes made at the last session of longress, and the large expenditures which have attended the military operations against the Indians on the frentier, and the maintenance of large forces at expensive points in the Southern States, this statement of the amount of the deb cannot be regarded as an unsatisfactory one. The bounties will, it is expected be entirely paid within the next three months, and very little interest except that which accrues upon the funded debt is herealter to provide for. Should there be henceforth no extraordinary expenditures and no further donation of public moneys in the form of bounties, or of additional subsidies to railway companies, with proper economy in the administration of the general government, and with judicious amendments of the revenue laws, and proper enforcement thereof, the public debt, without oppressive taxation, can be rapidly diminished, and easily extinguished within the period heretofore named by the Secretary. The ability of the United States to maintain their integrity against insurrec tion, as well as against a foreign enemy, can be no longer doubted. The question of their ability under lemocratic institutions to sustain a large
